32 acres of natural beauty

La Cuartilla offers environmentally friendly accommodation in the heart of an ecosystem restoration project where it is easy to connect with peace and tranquillity.

Just 20 minutes' walk from the white village of Vejer de la Frontera, it is located on a hillside with incredible views towards the sea and El Palmar beach.

Surrounded by 13 hectares of native forest, gardens and orchards, La Cuartilla is a sanctuary where day-to-day life is based on collaboration with nature and the principles of permaculture.

The views are stunning by day and by night the kaleidoscopic stars spread above you while the silence of the countryside reigns.

Outside there are shaded seating areas protected from the wind, and others in full sun, perfect for enjoying in both winter and summer.

With solar-powered electricity, well water and pellet stove heating, Casa La Cuartilla combines strong environmental principles with comfort and convenience.

Cool during the summer and warm in the winter, it is a perfect place to replenish your energy.

The house measures 200 m2 and accommodates 10 to 14 people in 5 bedrooms. The living/dining/kitchen area is an open-plan, harmonious space. The French doors overlook the west-facing terrace, filling the room with light and offering views of the sea. This is a great place to gather in a group to meditate, or just chill out.

Enjoy a hot drink by the fireplace in the colder months, or if you prefer, relax on the terrace and drink in the sunset.

There is a fully equipped kitchen with large pantry, but if you wish, you can book a catering service: organic, vegetarian, vegan – the choice is yours.

Groups have the use of a lovely 30 m² yurt for their activities. Next to it is the Buddha Terrace, a natural green space that's perfect for meditating or dancing in the open air.

The yurt is equipped with yoga material, and in winter is warmed by a wood stove.
